The boat opposite the bathing beach on the Ohio side is a class of itself and bears watching. Harry Joseph is in command. He is the fellow that Applegate came to this city for aid in rescuing his wife from his clutches. If reports are true he is a bad, bad man that ought not to be permitted to remain near a decent community.

WELLS—WELLS.

Shortly after the close of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, twenty-eight war vessels, modeled after their greater sisters of the American Navy, will sail from St. Louis for a trip down the Mississippi to New Orleans, with New York as the ultimate destination. The little vessels measure from 18 feet to 23 feet in length and are exact models of the big ships of the Navy. At New Orleans the fleet will act as an escort to the monarch of the Mardi Gras, and he will make his grand entree into the Carnival City amid the salutes of the little ships and while their pennants are dipping in salute to his regal highness.

An electric clock will be placed on the Market street side of J. J. Wood & Son's building at no late date. It will be quite the thing for Night Owls. They can then tell their deluded better half to a minute what time Lodge let out.

Some Reasonable Advice. It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy on hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by all Druggists.

If not, please call at John L. Winter's Store promptly, as we will soon ship it to the larger cities for exhibition.

REPRODUCTIONS.

Many swell factories are attempting reproductions of ancient furniture, and with experienced cabinet makers are fairly successful, but the arts and crafts of today are unable to reproduce this lovely specimen. Critics all pronounce it the loveliest specimen that has ever been unearthed. Cordially yours,

GARBLED QUOTATIONS.

How Parker Misused McKinley's Last Speech.

From Parker's letter of acceptance: "He pointed out in his last address to the people that we must make sensible trade arrangements. If we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus."

What McKinley said: "By sensible trade arrangements which shall not interrupt our home production we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus."

Judge Parker quotes McKinley further as follows: "A system which provides a mutual exchange of commodities is manifestly essential to the continued healthful growth of our export trade." But he stops there without including the following last sentence of the paragraph: "We should take from our customers such of their products as we can use without harm to our industries and labor."

Who says the "most noble judge" could purposely misrepresent?

"POLITICAL OLIGARCHY."

Some Facts About Voters' Rights in Virginia.

Something like a hundred years ago Thomas Jefferson protested against the new constitution of Virginia because it gave more power to 19,000 voters in the plantation region of the east than to 30,000 in the non-slaveholding western part of the state. Hence, he claimed, the state would be really ruled by an oligarchy. Let us see whether this is true now. In the Third district, one of the old slave-holding districts, are included the cities of Richmond and Manchester, and one in twenty-fourth of the population votes. In the Fourth district, another of those with a large ex-slave population, a total vote of 6,341 was cast in a population of 168,321—one in twenty-six—the winning candidate receiving 5,717 votes, or about five-sixths of the whole. In the Ninth district, including some of the western counties, about whose rights Jefferson was solicitous, a total vote of 27,170 was cast in a population of 227,381—about one vote in seven. The Republican candidate received 13,604 votes, and his opponent 13,476, more than twice as many votes as were required to elect a Democrat in the Fourth district, while the total vote is four times as great as that in the Fourth district and the population only about 60,000 greater. Sixty thousand more people and four times as many votes required to elect a representative! And Jefferson called it political oligarchy when 19,000 voters had more power than 30,000. And Judge Parker does not desire that justice shall "wait on political oligarchy?"
